Washington, D.C.

Dear General Cabell:

I plan to be in Washington the week of November 16th to observe the sessions of the NATO Parliamentarians' Conference and I should like very much to have opportunity during that week to talk with you concerning a book I am writing on NATO and European security. Your comments in a recent issue of the NATO Letter are so relevant to the essential thesis of my book that I should welcome the opportunity for further discussion of them with you.

You may or may not recall that we met a few years ago at, I think, one of the Brookings sessions on United States foreign policy. Two years ago I began work on this study under a Guggenheim Fellowship and this summer the award of one of the NATO fellowships made it possible for me to return to Europe and have further discussions with NATO and governmental officials.

I expect to be in Washington from the 16th through the 20th and I shall phone your office with the expectation of arranging an appointment. I shall very much appreciate the opportunity for discussion with you.

Sincerely yours,

Ruth C. Lawson
